FOREWORD

Presidential Proclamation No. 849, issued on August 14, 1996, declared the 1995 Census of Population (POPCEN) counts official for all purposes. This realized the availability of updated population counts even before the conduct of the next census in the year 2000 as provided for in Batas Pambansa Blg. 72 (Providing for the Taking of an Integrated Census Every Ten Years Beginning in the Year Nineteen Hundred and Eighty and for Other Purposes).

The POPCEN became a reality when President Ramos adopted the census-taking activity as one of the 'flagship project' of his government. This ensured the availability of funds for use in the nationwide activity.

The results of the POPCEN are used strategically by many sectors. The size of the population determines the number of representation by congressional districts in the House of Representatives. It is also the basis for redrawing political and administrative boundaries, for sharing the resources and revenues of the government and for many other political and administrative purposes. The 1995 POPCEN, aside from the above mentioned uses, is an important vehicle in coming up with data on the skills of the populace for manpower development planning. It is also being considered as a sampling frame to come up with estimates of the volume of the population engaged in the informal sector.

This report is one of the many that will be prepared to disseminate the results of the 1995 POPCEN. In this report, which is published by region, the population count by barangay is presented.

The POPCEN data were gathered through house-to-house visits and interview of responsible household members. Although the enumeration was planned for one month, it actually lasted for about two months, from September to October 1995, in most provinces and three months in Metro Manila, from September to November 1995 due to inclement weather.

The data processing of the results of the 1995 POPCEN utilized the latest state-of-the-art in information technology. The POPCEN results underwent computerized evaluation for its reasonableness and consistency with various demographic indicators in accordance with strict international standards. Abnormal changes and deviation were evaluated and field verified. The civil registration data were useful inputs in the evaluation process.

The POPCEN would not have been successful had it not been for the services rendered by various entities, both private and public, the dedication of some 30,000 hired enumerators, hired supervisors and regular NSO supervisors and the cooperation of the general populace.

The successful conduct of the POPCEN is proof that national development emanates from concerted national effort.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

Introduction

In September 1995, the National Statistics Office conducted the 1995 Census of Population (POPCEN). This nationwide undertaking is the 10th population census conducted in the country.

Like the 1990 census, the 1995 POPCEN is designed to take an inventory of the total population in the Philippines and to collect information about their characteristics. The data will provide new basis for the apportionment of the Internal Revenue Allocation (IRA) to local government units and for the creation of new legislative areas such as regions, provinces, municipalities and barangays or the conversion of a municipality into a city. The census of population is the source of information on the size and distribution of the population as well as information about the demographic, social, economic and cultural characteristics. These information are vital for making rational plans and programs for development.

Pursuant to the provision of Batas Pambansa Blg. 72, a final report on total population, total household population and number of households at the barangay level was submitted to the President and was approved under Proclamation No. 849 dated August 14, 1996.

Authority for Conducting the 1995 Census of Population

Under Commonwealth Act No. 591, the Bureau of the Census and Statistics (now National Statistics Office) is authorized "to prepare for and undertake all censuses of population, agriculture, industry and commerce".

Batas Pambansa Blg. 72, which was passed on June 11, 1980, further accorded the National Statistics Office the authority to conduct population censuses every ten years beginning in 1980 without prejudice to the undertaking of special censuses on agriculture, industry, commerce, housing and other sectors as may be approved by the National Economic and Development Authority.

More recently, Executive Order No. 121, otherwise known as the Reorganization Act of the Philippine Statistical System, which was passed on January 30, 1987, declared that the NSO shall be the major statistical agency responsible for generating general purpose statistics and undertaking such censuses and surveys as may be designated by the National Statistical Coordination Board (NSCB).

On May 30, 1993, the NSCB approved the conduct of a mid-decade population census through NSCB Resolution 6-93. The 1995 POPCEN was under the overall supervision of the NSCB. The NSCB membership consists of representatives (undersecretary level) of the various executive departments, including the Administrator of the NSO. With respect to the POPCEN, the NSO Administrator is the Executive Officer of the NSCB.

Census Coordinating Councils

For the 1995 POPCEN, the creation of Provincial Census Coordinating Councils

1995 Census of Population

(PCCC) and City/Municipal Census Coordinating Councils (C/MCCC) was authorized by NSCB Resolution No. 3, Series of 1995. The Provincial Statistics Officer (PSO) and District Statistics Officer (DSO) were responsible for organizing the PCCC and C/MCCC, respectively. These councils serve as counterparts of the NSCB at the local government level, that is, to assist in the conduct of the POPCEN at the subnational level.

The Provincial Governor was the Chairman of the Provincial Census Coordinating Council with the Division Superintendent of the Department of Education, Culture and Sports (DECS) as Vice Chairman, the District Highway Engineer, the Provincial Commander of the Philippine Constabulary, the Provincial Planning & Development Officer, and three representatives from the private sector as members, and with the Provincial Statistics Officer of the NSO as the Executive Officer.

The City/Municipal Board is composed of the City/Municipal Mayor as Chairman, the DECS Supervisor or Supervising Principal, the Station Commander, the Municipal Civil Registrar, the Municipal Planning and Development Officer, and the private sector as members, and with the District Statistics Officer/Asst. District Statistics Officer of the NSO as Executive Officer.

Census Organization

The 1995 POPCEN was supervised and coordinated by the Household Statistics Department (HSD) under the direction and instructions of the Administrator. The planning and preparatory activities for all aspects of the census was undertaken by the HSD in close coordination with the support divisions -- Information Resources Division (IRD), Human Resources & Management Division (HRMD), Financial Services Division (FSD), and the Administrative Services Division (ASD). A Technical and Administrative Group (TAG) headed by the Chief of the HSD oversees the ten working groups created for this purpose.

The TAG was under the direction and supervision of a Steering Committee chaired by the Administrator and co-chaired by the Deputy Administrator. It was comprised of the HSD Chief, Chiefs of support division, Division Chiefs of the HSD, Field Representative and the NSO Legal Officer.

The HSD Chief is assisted by the Census Project Staff (CPS) especially in the coordination of working groups of the TAG and in the communication flow between Central Office (CO) units and the field offices. The CPS also serve as Secretariat to the Steering Committee and as POPCEN monitoring, communications and action center. The Head of the CPS is an ex-officio member of the TAG.

The Regional Administrator (RA), acted as the regional census coordinator for his region, while the PSO acted as the provincial census executive officer for his province.

During the POPCEN field operations, each District Office within a province served as operations center under the direct supervision of the District Statistics Officer (DSO) who was designated as the District Area Supervisor

Explanatory Note

(DAS). In special cases, CO allowed a province to create subdistricts for purposes of census supervision. The PSO assigned a DAS to it from among the regular field staff, i.e., the Asst. Statistics Officer (ASCOS) of the office.

For the field enumeration, a group of census enumerators (ENs) was supervised by a team supervisor (TS) and a group of TS was supervised by a Census Area Supervisor (CAS). NSO ASCOs were designated as CAS. The DAS supervised all CAS, TS and ENs of the municipalities covered by the District or Subdistrict Office.

Method of Enumeration

The gathering of population data was performed by census enumerators through house-to-house visits and interview of a responsible member of each household. The household was used as the enumeration unit. However, a complete listing of buildings which contain living quarters, including vacant one, as well as housing units was done.

The households were interviewed using the Household Questionnaire (CP Form 2). The items asked on population were household membership, relationship to head, overseas worker (OCW), date of birth, age as of last birthday, sex, civil status, disability, ethnicity, highest grade completed, trade skills and economic activity.

Institutional households were enumerated using the Institutional Population Questionnaire (CP Form 3). All items in CP Form 2 were also asked except for item OCW where residence status was asked instead.

Information about households of Filipinos working in the Philippine Embassies in foreign countries, were also gathered and included in the total population of the country.

Place Where Enumerated

All persons were enumerated in their usual place of residence, which is the geographic place (street, barangay, sitio, municipality or province) where the enumerated person usually resides.

Content and Coverage of this Publication

In this publication, the total population, household population and the number of households are presented by barangay. Each report is published by region.

DEFINITION OF TERMS AND CONCEPTS

Barangay

A barangay is the smallest political unit in the country. Generally, its enumeration is assigned to one enumerator. For enumeration purposes, a large barangay is usually split into parts and each part is called an enumeration area (EA).

For purposes of the 1995 POPCEN, the NSCB Technical Working Group on Geographic Classification list of barangays as of Sept. 1, 1995, was used as basis. A total of 41,919 barangays were covered in this census.

Usual Place of Residence

This term refers to the geographic place (street, barangay, municipality, or province) where the enumerated persons usually resides. As a rule, it is the place where he sleeps most of the time, hence, it may be the same as or different from the place where he was found at the time of the census.

Household

A household is a social unit consisting of a person living alone or group of persons who

1. sleep in the same housing unit; and
2. have a common arrangement in the preparation and consumption of food.

In most cases, a household consists of persons who are related by kinship ties, like parents and their children. In some instances, several generations of familial ties are represented in one household while, still in others, even more distant relatives are members of the household.

Household helpers, boarders, and non-relatives are considered as members of the household provided they sleep in the same housing unit and have common arrangement for the preparation and consumption of food and do not usually go home to their family at least once a week.

A group of unrelated individuals, as in the case of a group of students or workers, who decide to rent a place and make common arrangements for the preparation and consumption of their food constitutes one household.

Institutional population comprises persons who are found living in institutional living quarters. They may have their own families or households elsewhere but at the time of the census they are committed or confined in institutions, or they live in institutional living quarters and are usually subject to a common authority or management, or are bound by either a common public objective or a common personal interest.

HIGHLIGHTS

Philippines

- The total population of the Philippines as of September 1, 1995 is 68,614,162*.
- The 1995 population increased by 7,910,956 over the 1990 census figure (with May 1, 1990 as reference date). The 1995 census figure is nine times the Philippine population in 1903 when the first of the censuses that counted the population in the entire archipelago was undertaken.
- The population grew at the rate of 2.32 percent annually in the first half of the nineties. This is 0.03 percentage point lower than the annual geometric census growth rate during the eighties. The first major decline in the census growth rate occurred in the first half of the seventies. The 1970 census indicated a growth rate of 3.08 in the past ten years; and this was followed by decelerating rates: 2.78 percent from 1970 to 1975; 2.71 percent from 1975 to 1980 and 2.35 percent from 1980 to 1990.
- If the average annual growth rate of the population continues at 2.32 percent, the Philippine population is expected to double in less than 30 years. At this rate of growth, population increases by almost 1.6 million persons every year or about 3 persons per minute.
- The average household size registered at 5.07 persons from the 1990 figure of 5.31 persons. This means that for every 100 households, the reported number of members decreased by 24 persons.
- Two out of five persons is a resident of either NCR, Central Luzon (Region III) or Southern Tagalog (Region IV). Based on the 1995 census, the population of the three regions combined comprised more than 38 percent of the country's total population. Among the regions, Southern Tagalog (Region IV) is the fastest growing region, in terms of population, with an annual census growth rate of 3.52 percent.
- Five of the sixteen administrative regions (the 16th region is the newly created CARAGA) had census growth rates higher than the national figure. Two of these are in Luzon (NCR and Region IV) and the other three, in Mindanao (Region IX, Region XI and Region XII). Region X grew at the same rate as the national population.
- Cebu, the fastest growing center of industry and trade outside NCR, registered the highest population among the provinces with 2,921,145 persons. Two other provinces surpassed the two million mark: Negros Occidental (2,424,186 persons) and Pangasinan (2,178,412 persons).
- The provinces with less than one hundred thousand populace are Batanes (14,180 persons), Camiguin (68,039 persons), Siquijor (73,756 persons) and Apayao (83,660 persons).

* Excludes Mangyans (2,369 persons) enumerated in the municipality of Paluan, province of Occidental Mindoro.

HIGHLIGHTS

Central Luzon

- The total population of Central Luzon (Region III) as of September 1, 1995 is 6,932,570.
  - The 1995 population of Region III increased by 733,553 over the 1990 census figure (with May 1, 1990 as reference date).
  - The population of Region III grew at the rate of 2.12 percent annually in the first half of the nineties. This is 0.47 percentage point lower than the annual geometric census growth rate during the eighties (2.58 percent).
  - If the average annual growth rate of the population of Region III continues at 2.12 percent, the population of Region III is expected to double in 33 years. During this span of time and with this rate of growth, population increases by almost 210 thousand persons every year or about 24 persons per hour, on average.
  - Among the six provinces in Region III, Bulacan registered the largest population at 1,784,441 persons, and Bataan, the smallest at 491,459 persons.
  - In terms of growth rate, Bulacan was the fastest growing province in the region, with an average annual growth rate of 3.24 percent, while Zambales was the slowest (0.21 percent).
  - The number of households in Region III rose to 1,365,990 in 1995, registering an increase of 202,785 persons over the 1990 census figure. The average household size slightly declined to 5.1 persons from 5.3 persons in 1990.
  - The institutional population of Region III as of September 1, 1995 is 9,433. This is lower than the 1990 census figure by 868 persons.

APPENDIX B

provincial, municipality and barangay counts with the corresponding population projections/ estimates. Instructions for the scrutiny of questionnaires were likewise formulated.

The QCPS provided data on the progress of enumeration in each barangay and the census enumerator's actual output. Once census enumeration in a barangay was completed, the quick count results on the number of households and population for barangays were compared with the corresponding population estimates. Explanations or justifications were sought for counts higher or lower than the population estimates by ten percent.

The evaluation at the provincial and regional offices also included the assessment of the reasonableness of the enumerators' actual output rate (the average number of households enumerated per day in a particular enumeration area (EA) or barangay) by comparing this with the expected output for an urban or rural barangay. Explanations were sought for unreasonably too high or too low output.

A more thorough procedure of evaluation was employed for barangays with possible padding in the 1995 POPCEN. At the NSO provincial offices, questionnaires were scrutinized for signs of fabricated data on household membership. The indications include different handwritings in questionnaires for households assigned to one enumerator; repeated use of fictitious names and names of popular persons and movie stars; high frequency of questionnaires in which siblings and other members of the household were not written in the specified order; high incidence of mothers giving births every year or even as short as nine months; and the presence of an unusually large number of other relatives and non-relatives in most households. Areas suspected to have been under-enumerated were also verified.

2. Evaluation at the Central Office

At the Central Office, the Population Statistics Section also carried out an evaluation of the quick count results, utilizing as input the data from QCPS and reports of the CEUs. In addition to the demographic data available from the QCPS, demographic indicators at the barangay level were calculated and scrutinized.

The 1995 census data at the provincial and municipality level were compared with past censuses data in order to determine whether the 1995 POPCEN results conform to expected demographic trends. The guidelines presented in the Quick Count System Manual (pages 4-2 to 4-4) were adopted by the Central Office in the evaluation of the quick count results. Quick counts deemed reasonable or acceptable based on the guidelines became the preliminary counts. Counts considered unreasonable were subjected to further evaluation. Regional and provincial offices concerned were directed to provide explanations if these were not included in their CEU reports. Population estimates multiplied by a factor deemed appropriate (that is, 1.0, 0.8 or 0.5), depending on what proportion the actual count was to the estimated population, were adopted as preliminary counts for barangays with partial counts or with no reported counts.

The results of the 1995 Census of Population (POPCEN) were evaluated with the aid of the computer system called the Quick Count Processing System (QCPS). The QCPS generated quick counts using as input the Enumerators Quick Count Report (CP Form 8). The QCPS was installed at the NSO provincial offices, regional offices and Central Office. The evaluation of the POPCEN results was performed at these three levels of the NSO/POPCEN organization.

1. Evaluation at the NSO provincial and regional offices

The PSO and his staff were responsible for the evaluation of the POPCEN data for the province. In order to hasten the evaluation process and come out with a timely and consolidated report for the region on the outcome of evaluation, Census Evaluation Unit (CEU) was created in each region. One personnel, with training in Demography, from each provincial office and one personnel from the regional office, usually a Statistician, comprised the CEU in a region. The CEU was tasked to carry out a thorough evaluation of the POPCEN data for all provinces in the region, utilizing as input the results of the evaluation by the provincial offices.

The evaluation at both the provincial and regional offices mainly utilized data from QCPS, such as the quick counts of population and of households by barangay, and some demographic indicators for each municipality. The following demographic indicators were generated through QCPS:

1. average annual rates of population change for the periods 1980-1990 and 1990-1995;
2. sex ratio for the years 1990 and 1995; and
3. average household size for the years 1990 and 1995.

A general set of criteria for the evaluation of the quick count results was adopted. (Refer to pages 4-2 to 4-4 of the Quick Count System Manual). Acceptable ranges of values for the average annual growth rate, sex ratio, and average household size, as well as expected direction and magnitude of change in these indicators were defined. Explanations were sought whenever an indicator did not fall within the range of values deemed acceptable or reasonable. For instance, POPCEN results for cities and municipalities were further verified and provided with justifications if during 1990-1995, their average annual growth rate was either negative or higher than 3 percent; if in 1995 their sex ratio was either lower than 92 or higher than 108; or/and if in 1995 their average household size was either lower or higher than the 1990 figure by more than one person.

Also employed were additional pointers which require the use of Quick Count Reports on the status of census enumeration and coverage, and the comparison of the

APPENDIX B

As soon as the counts from the questionnaires became available for a province, these were compared with the preliminary counts. Another round of evaluation was carried out in case there was a discrepancy between the two. The guidelines in evaluating the counts from the questionnaires if they did not tally with the preliminary counts are:

1. Examine if at the municipality level all the following demographic indicators are within the acceptable range of values or in accord to the expected trend.
  - a. Sex ratio should be within the range 92 to 108.
  - b. Average household size should be within the range 4.8 to 5.8 (lower and upper limits are -0.5 and +0.5, respectively, of the 1990 national average) or its deviation from the 1990 figure for the same municipality should be within the range -0.5 to +0.5.
  - c. Growth rate should be neither negative nor greater than 3.0 percent. Increase or decrease in growth rate should not be drastic. That is, the difference between the 1980-1990 and the 1990-1995 growth rate should be within the range -1.0 to +1.0.
2. If criterion 1 is satisfied, the counts based on the questionnaires for the municipality and all its barangays are accepted.
3. If criterion 1 is not satisfied but justifications/explanations are provided and these are found acceptable, then the counts based on the questionnaires for the municipality and all its barangays are accepted.
4. If criterion 1 is not satisfied and no justifications are provided, or the justifications given are deemed not acceptable, then evaluation at the barangay level should be carried out following criterion 1.
5. The count for the barangay based on the questionnaires should be accepted if all the demographic indicators are acceptable/reasonable.
6. The count for the barangay based on the questionnaires should likewise be accepted even if not all three demographic indicators are found acceptable provided that at least one of the following conditions is satisfied:
  - (a) The count from the questionnaires does not exceed the preliminary count by more than 20 persons.
  - (b) The justifications/explanations are deemed acceptable.

In the final round of evaluation, which was only performed for barangays not satisfying the aforementioned criteria, condition 6(a) above was modified by increasing the cut-off to 99 persons. Counts for areas suspected of padding and of under-enumeration were validated with COMELEC data on registered voters and with birth and death statistics from the Civil Registration System.
